ee Telephony Revolution for Small Business Starts Today

Small business will get everything they would expect to be charged for plus FREE: unlimited phone extensions, call assistant and more.

BARCELONA, Spain, 11 June - VozTelecom is launching OIGAA today at VON Europe 2007. This is an innovative new service for small business. OIGAA is giving away on the Internet what telecom equipment suppliers were charging high prices to use. OIGAA is now available from www.oigaa.com in Beta release.

OIGAA marks the beginning of the end for overcharging telephony equipment. It does this by delivering big and lasting cost savings for any small business. OIGAA recovers its costs from the calls made using the service. We do this by using the latest web-activated calling technology. It doesn't require any hardware, software installations, headphones or special terminals. It works by using a customer's existing PC, mobile, fixed or IP phone and is competitive with other single-line Internet VOIP service providers.

Small businesses will get everything they would expect to be charged for but FREE. This includes unlimited phone extensions, a virtual personal assistant, conferencing, cool hold music, presence, instant messaging and more; such as unlimited Internet calls to other OIGAA and Skype users.

When the user is out of the office, OIGAA on the mobile enables calls to be placed, and the customer to be reached through a fixed landline number without increasing the monthly phone bill. The benefits for businesses are great because customers prefer calling local landline numbers. Fixed and mobile phone bills are slashed, and the company gets a 'big business' feel with unlimited telephony.

Presenting and speaking at VON this week, VozTelecom CEO Xavier Casajoana said "We have seen in recent years how the internet and VoIP have killed the phone business. Now it's the era of the applications on the internet. We are experiencing Web 2.0 phenomena. Voice 2.0 applications will replace telecom equipment suppliers for businesses. OIGAA is doing this today! Find out how at booth 214"

OIGAA has no optional extras and no hidden charges. It merely represents great value, simply priced packs for small businesses. Three OIGAA plans are available, all with unlimited extensions and big-business features. They range from the FREE pack to the flat-fee unlimited one which includes unlimited calls in 60 countries.
